THE ABORIGINAL CULTURE

The Aboriginal culture is based on the “Dreamtime” concept.

The “Dreamtime” goes back way before the creation of Earth, when spirits created all the natural elements.

According to this culture, the rocks, hills and lakes are marked by the spirits of the originators and thereby, are regarded as sacred.

Therefore, the Aboriginal culture is closely related to nature: human beings, plants and earth are linked by a spiritual bond.

This spiritual bond is reflected in the Aboriginal Tribal Art that stages the “Dreamtime” myths.

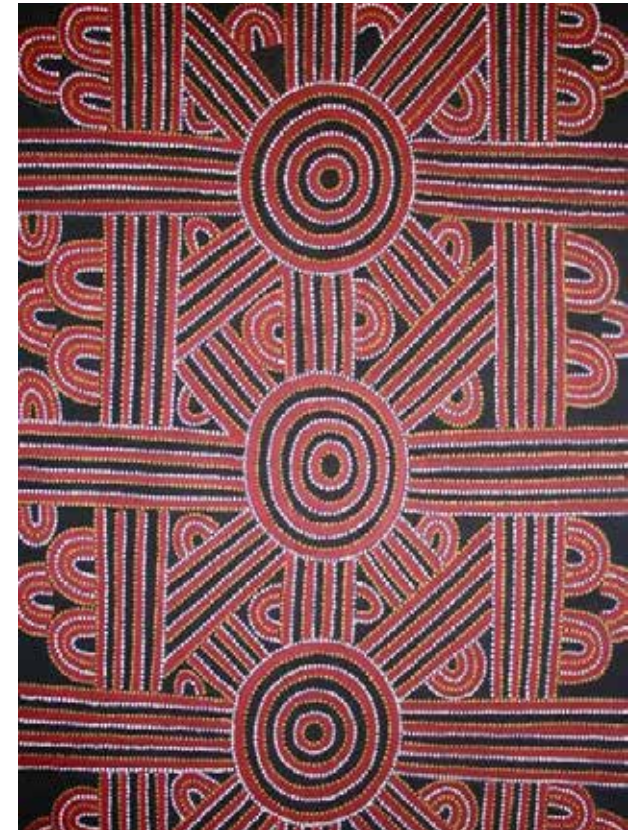

THE ABORIGINAL ART DOT-PAINTING

"Doesn't matter what sort of painting we do in this country, it still belongs to the people, all the people. This is worship, work, culture. It's all Dreaming. There are two ways of painting. Both ways are important because that's culture. " ~ Wenten Rubuntja.

The Aboriginal Art is an ancient artistic form that is rooted in the sacred.

Pointillism or Dot-painting is a technique that dates back 30 000 years and is still in the 21st century, a great source of inspiration for a lot of artists and designers.

ORIGINS

A JOURNEY INTO ABORIGINAL ART

The Origins Collection came into existence thanks to the collaboration between Recife and Jeremy Smith, an Australian artist who is deeply committed and involved in the conservation and the promotion of the Aboriginal culture and Tribal Art.

Jérémy drew his inspiration from the Aboriginal Dot-painting to create the patterns of the Origins collection by reinterpreting it in an original and unexpected way.

Those patterns are printed on our best leather using the exclusive Recife TattooLeather technique.

Through «Origins» Recife highlights this ancestral culture whose tradition relies on a strong spirituality linked to the earth, the fauna and flora whose conservation is nowadays a major concern.
