Portraits of the Divine

Μέδουσα
Medusa

The sea Medusa is not a female sea monster, although we often think of her that way. She has been the most famous of the three Gorgons, the most beautiful girls of ancient Greece. Medusa is named by Poseidon, who is the god of the sea. She is punished not because she was ugly, but because she was beautiful. She was turned into a monster by Athena, who was jealous of her beauty. Medusa was a victim of a rape by Poseidon, and she was punished for it. She was turned into a monster, and she was killed by Perseus. She was a victim of a rape, and she was punished for it. She was turned into a monster, and she was killed by Perseus. She was a victim of a rape, and she was punished for it. She was turned into a monster, and she was killed by Perseus.

Your World

Cycladoupolis

Client: Museum of Cycladic art, WWF

Purpose: Artistic intervention, production

"Cycladoupolis" is a cultural, environmental, and educational game designed to raise awareness about Cycladic civilization, its heritage, and the environmental challenges faced by the islands of the Cyclades.

We were commissioned to aesthetically renew the game, making it truly appealing to both children and parents. At the same time, we undertook its full production: from the informational leaflets and wooden pawns to the box and the game board, creating a complete, refined, and enjoyable experience.

Journey to freedom

Client: TEMES, the Captain Vassilis and Carmen Constantakopoulos Foundation, Costa Navarino, in collaboration with the Region of Peloponnese and with the scientific documentation of the University of the Peloponnese for the "Morias 21" initiative.

Purpose: Board game creation and production

"1821: Journey to Freedom" is an original and engaging Action & Knowledge game about the Greek Revolution, beginning with the founding of the Filiki Eteria and culminating in the birth of the modern Greek nation. We were commissioned to create a board game with strong painterly elements reminiscent of Revolution-era artworks, designed to be playable by all ages and by players of every level and background.

Statue of Spyros Louis

Client: OAKA(Olympic stadium complex)

Purpose: Creation of a Statue of Spyros Louis

We created a statue of Spyros Louis which, through our artistic perspective, brings him into the present day. At the moment he breaks the finish line, Spyros Louis symbolically transitions from the dirt roads of Attica to the modern tartan track of OAKA.

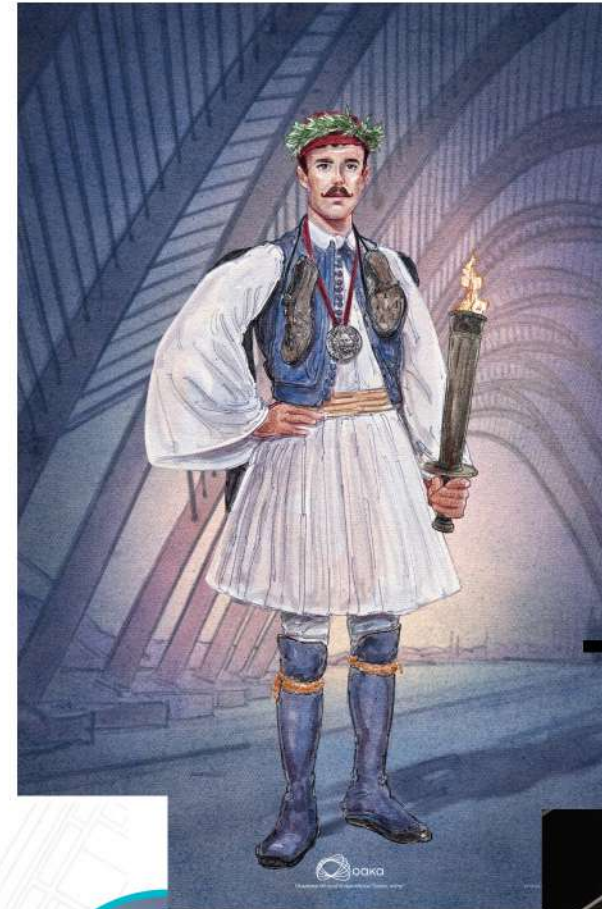

OAKA

Client: OAKA(Olympic stadium complex)
Purpose: Creation of an Artistic design

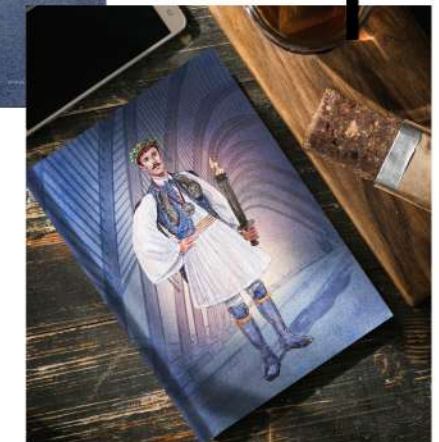

With the aim of creating an artistic work that would honor Spyros Louis while simultaneously connecting him with the stadium that bears his name, we designed a composition that unites the legend with the space of OAKA.

At the same time, we were commissioned to design an informational brochure that would guide visitors through the functions and facilities of OAKA, offering a complete and aesthetically refined experience.

DreamLand

Client: Kourtidis Group

Purpose: Creation and Production of a Board Game

"We were commissioned to create a board game with strong tourism-focused elements, designed to highlight the rich history and multifaceted experience offered by Ofrinio Beach.

Through vibrant, imaginative stickers and photographs, we showcased the variety of activities and landmarks in the area, giving the game a distinct character and identity that reflects everything the region has to offer throughout the year.

MY GREEK ODYSSEY

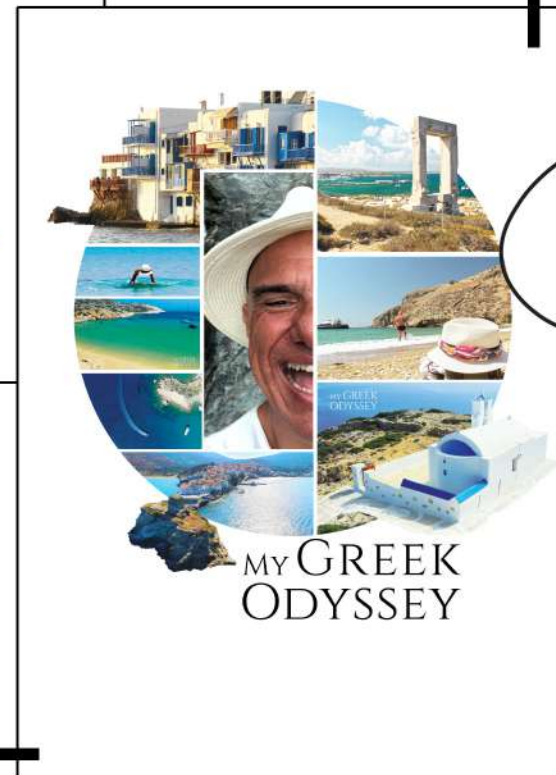

Concept

Client: My Greek Odyssey Tv Show

Purpose: Creation of Merchandise

We were commissioned to create a product line that would highlight both Greek identity and the dynamic activity of My Greek Odyssey's creator, Peter Maneas. From organic tea and T-shirts to beach towels and post-cards, the project required a wide variety of products as well as diverse design approaches.

Despite the challenges, we succeeded in developing a complete collection, the result of hard work, but even greater enthusiasm.

Art^{games}

Concept

Client: Basil & Elise
Goulandris Museum

Purpose: Creation of Board Games

"We were commissioned to create board games inspired by the museum's artworks as well as by the artists themselves.

We designed a series of characters who wander through the museum's spaces, observe the exhibits, and unfold a historical narrative through the institution's milestone dates.
