

Loisirs créatifs responsables

C'REPARTI is a young French company based nearby Paris, which designs and manufactures kits of creative hobbies.

The company's project is based on 3 pillars:

- Manufacture locally (Made In France)
- Use recycled and sustainable materials, targeting “0 plastic”
- Promote employment of disable people, mainly by collaborating with ESATs at all stages of production and logistics.

C'Reparti offers different DIY creative kits for children (from 5 years old), adults and seniors, all designed around raw or recycled materials such as wool, wood, and linen.

The flagship product of the brand is its Punch Needle kit. The Punch Needle is a very simple type of embroidery (very popular in the US but still quite unknown in Europe). The technique consists of punching a linen canvas using a magic needle. It forms loops of wool which hold by simple pressure of the canvas stitches, and it will gradually form a complete pattern.

C'REPARTI was initially targeting children. It has developed many collaborations with schools: the activity is highly appreciated by teachers for the development of concentration and fine motor skills. The range then expanded to adults who also appreciate the activity for its relaxing and soothing side.

Our customers include kinesiologist, psychomotor therapists and workshop animators who use our products in their practice. A “workshop” offer is dedicated to them, including a loan option for reusable Punch Needle equipment.

The shops and museums that collaborate with us appreciate the responsiveness enabled by a local company, the quality of our Made in France products and the possibility to develop rapidly specific designs in line with their thematic in order to extend the experience of their visitors.
