

Our Mission

Original Duckhead is an umbrella and bag company implementing conscious design to save millions of post-consumer plastic bottles from waste streams.

Original Duckhead was founded in 2012 with a mission: to disrupt the throwaway culture in the umbrella industry.

Did you know every year globally a total of over 1 billion umbrellas are discarded? Most of these umbrellas are not recycled or even recyclable.

Our unique and playful umbrellas and bags will bring your gift seeking customers back into your store over and over again.

Sustainability has always been at the core of our brand mission, we strive to create a positive impact for our people and our planet through our values, principles and transparency — the pillars of how we operate.

MATERIALS

Biodegradable Packaging

We use 100% certified biodegradable poly-bags, which means you can relax that all of our packaging is fully biodegradable in landfill. All packaging we use to ship at every stage of production is also fully recyclable.

High-Strength Frame:

Our wind-resistant frames are constructed using high-strength steel and fiberglass, ensuring durability and resilience in any weather.

Sustainably Sourced Birch Wood:

Our handles are made from sustainably sourced solid birch wood. Each umbrella is lightweight, compact, and equipped with an automatic push button.

Recycled Plastic Bottles:

We recycle 9 plastic bottles to create each umbrella, and 6 for every reusable bag. Our fabric is certified SCS recycled content. rPET production uses less energy and emits less CO2 compared to polyester and nylon, significantly reducing our environmental footprint by diverting plastic bottles from waste streams.
